

I have been a long-time listener to the K-LOVE radio network, and am concerned about the possible affect that the expansion to LPFM might have on my ability to listen to great Christian oriented music. Christian music is offered at the local level in many areas, but K-LOVE can offer a supperior service more efficiently due to its centralized administration. K-LOVE provides some air-time for local announcements from community groups and churches, so I do not think that LPFM would provide much benefit over the service being provided by K-LOVE.

The broadcast provided by K-LOVE through its FM translator service is valuable to me, and should not be subordinated to LPFM in my community, or any other across this country.

Thank you for listening! Brian Wolverton
